MEIGHEN ANNOUNCES ELECTION DATE AS SEPTEMBER 14th—CONSERVATIVE CAMPAIGN OPENED LEADER FEATURES CUSTOMS PROBE LITTLIES THE CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUE

Ottawa, July 21.—Canada goes to the polls on Tuesday, September 14. In his speech last night, Premier Meighen definitely announced the date. The campaign will be just eight weeks' duration.

Ottawa, July 21.—(Canadian Press)—With the delivery of Premier Meighen's inaugural speech last night, the fifty-five day political campaign has been officially started. From now until election day on September 14, the premier, with few intermissions, will be engaged in a speaking tour from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In two days' time, former Premier King will also make his keynote speech in the capital. Mr. King, like the premier, will conduct a coast to coast tour. The campaign gives every promise of developing into one of the sharpest waged in Canadian politics.

Last night Premier Meighen fired the opening gun of his campaign. He stressed the customs probe scandal and belittled the constitutional issue. The former had brought the Liberal government under a shadow of a vote of censure in the house of commons. Ex-Premier King had been warned by preliminary votes of the house that a vote of censure was inevitable and therefore he had tried to get dissolution, just as he added—a man charged with crime might seek to persuade the judge to discharge the jury. Because he did not get dissolution of parliament, Mr. King had raised the bogey of a constitutional issue, claimed Premier Meighen.

The former government would certainly have been defeated in the house, he added.

The defeat of his own government a few days later, said Mr. Meighen, came "only by the most miserable of technicalities in an inadvertent vote of one," but, he added, no government of which he was the head would ever seek to remain in office one hour after it had lost the confidence of the commons. Both the major parties having been defeated in the house, he had sought the most direct means of putting the issue up to the people.

The constitutional issue, said Mr. Meighen, did not arise.

The Liberal party, he said, was "dragging the severed link between Canada and the empire into the hearers that 'under the governors' political arena.' He assured his general that have come to this Dominion since the beginning of its history, there is no danger to responsible government in this country." "Permitted degeneration" of the department of customs during the past four years had cost Canada an amount which it would be difficult to estimate in money and industry, said Mr. Meighen. The revelations so far made through the customs probe showed that only the fringe of the smuggling ring had been exposed. The probe would be carried on under a Conservative regime, he added, by means of a judicial inquiry, headed by Chief Justice Sir Francis Lemieux of Quebec. To those who said that the Stevens committee had proceeded in such a way as to expose only irregularities in Quebec, he would like to draw attention to the fact that the committee's report recommended discipline or dismissal of far more English-speaking civil servants than French Canadians and that of the firms which were listed as meriting prosecution, only a few were French-speaking.

At the close of his speech, Mr. Meighen announced that election day had been fixed for September 14 and nomination day for September 7.

ST. ANDREW'S, MACLEOD, CALLS REV. WISHART, FORMER CALGARIAN

The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Macleod, met in the church Wednesday evening for the purpose of extending a call to the Rev. A. C. Wishart to be minister of the church, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late pastor, the Rev. W. A. R. Whitman. There was a large representation of the members and adherents present, in spite of the fact that a large number are out of town on holiday. The Rev. W. E. Kelly of St. Andrew's church, Lethbridge, who is interim moderator of the vacancy, was present and presided over the meeting. The meeting was one of the largest and most enthusiastic of its kind ever held by the congregation, and when the motion was put to the meeting to extend the call to Mr. Wishart, every hand went up. The motion was carried unanimously.

Afterwards the call was signed by every member and adherent present at the meeting. The congregation of St. Andrew's are to be congratulated upon being able to secure the services of such an able preacher as Mr. Wishart, and the unanimity and enthusiasm of the congregation in presenting this call augurs well for the success of Mr. Wishart's ministry in old St. Andrew's, Macleod.

Up to about three years ago Mr. Wishart was minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Calgary, where for about ten years he labored, and built up, from a mere handful of members, a large and flourishing congregation. Through an accident of natural gas poisoning in his home in Calgary three years ago, he has been laid aside from the work of the church, spending the greater part of this time in California. Being practically restored to his former health and strength, he was anxious to return to his beloved work in the church, and he accepted the invitation of the Calgary Presbytery to supply the pulpit of Macleod church for three months during the vacancy. His preaching and his ministrations to the congregation have been so much appreciated that the unanimous call from the meeting Wednesday night is being presented to him to become the permanent pastor of the church.

It is earnestly hoped by every member and adherent of the church that Mr. Wishart will accept the call and build up the congregation in Macleod as he built up St. Paul's in Calgary.

We shall not respect patriotism much until it can cheer madly while paying for a war long since ended.

Another disadvantage of being fat is that you seem to be putting when you're being dignified.

WINDERMERE ROAD IS SAFE FOR TOURISTS—ONLY SMALL FIRES BURNING NEAR MOUNTAIN HIGHWAY NOW, SAYS WARDLE

Banff, July 21.—End of the forest fire menace in the Kootenay region was in sight today, officials here stated. The blaze is practically all out on its boundaries, while isolated fires are burning on the mountain slopes in the middle of the burned-out area.

Several contingents of firefighters are being brought into Banff today and are being paid off. Some 200 men are being left in the fire region as a precautionary measure.

Tourists are passing freely along the Banff-Windermere highway today. Those arriving in Banff said that they saw no signs of any active blaze, although there is still considerable smoke visible in the district. About 5 miles of the highway itself was affected by flames, and scenic beauty hit.

Wardle's Statement

Banff, July 21.—"Notwithstanding the various stories that have been broadcast of the destruction through the forest fire that has been burning in the Kootenay national park in the Canadian Rockies last fourteen days, there are two outstanding facts that must not be lost sight of," stated J. M. Wardle yesterday.

Mr. Wardle is chief engineer of the national parks of Canada and has been in active touch with the fire fighting since the fire started. "The two facts that are outstanding," continued Mr. Wardle, "are, first, the fire has reached the Banff-Windermere highway for only five and one-half miles out of the 93 miles within the park limits, and today the only fires burning along the highway are small and confined to a small area. The second outstanding fact is that the fires have reached the really valuable timber to a very small extent and though disastrous as any forest fire is, that in the Kootenay park has so far principally destroyed second growth timber of agents that were burned over probably thirty years ago."

Beauty Is Destroyed

"Of course, for the five and one-half miles mentioned it has destroyed the scenic beauty and has been a deterrent to the tourist travel that was expected through the park highway this year, and as the highway was built especially for the tourist, every effort has been made to keep the road open for them."

"The outlook now is very promising and no danger exists to the tourist who will use good sense and follow the rules that we have laid down for their guidance. We close the road at night and keep it closed in the morning until our patrol has been through the burned area to clear it of any danger from trees or brush that may have fallen during the night."

Explains Fatality

"A statement has been made that the driver of the car that was caught in the flames was not warned of danger. The answer to that is that any person of mature years who arrives at a point where forest fires are burning and where he can see fire fighting apparatus along the road for many rods, where men are working like galley slaves with hoses, axes and shovels to stop the spread of the flames, the danger should be apparent, and that is the exact condition that confronted the driver of the fatal car. While I cannot say that I personally remember the exact car, the member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police stationed at the entrance to the fire zone states that he distinctly remembers the car and that the driver was warned."

Mr. Wardle and his fire fighters are very hopeful that the fire is confined to areas where it is expected to burn out on the mountain slopes or else stop at the fire guards of sufficient width to stop its progress.

WAR DEBT SETTLEMENTS FOUGHT IN GREAT BRITAIN

London, July 20.—An energetic proposed war debt settlements with determined drive against the United States is being made here. Last night's plain spoken debate in the house of commons is only one indication of this feeling. Many newspapers and many leading politicians of all parties believe that the only salvation for France and for European countries generally is an arrangement to cancel all war debts.

Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail is printing daily a list of what it calls "Cold Facts," illustrating how the United States is soaking up the money of Europe.

Yesterday Rothermere's Evening News printed a cartoon describing United States as "Uncle Shylock," the bitterness of which has aroused English friends of America. Attacks on a good deal of resentment among like this are undoubtedly creating a spirit of hostility among the people upon which official England and most thoughtful people are frowning.

Only two weeks now till Macleod's Big Fair will be in full swing. BIG FAIR IS RIGHT. The prospects are pointing to the Biggest and Best Display of Agricultural Exhibits seen on the Macleod Fair grounds for many years. Throughout the lean and poor years the Macleod Agricultural Society struggled along and never missed a Fair till last year, and even in the poor years had some really good Fairs, and now after a years rest, and crop prospects in the district the best for years, with stock of all classes never looking better, grains, grasses, and vegetables in splendid shape for showing, is there any reason why the Fair of 1926 should not be the Banner Fair of the Macleod Agricultural Society. But it can't be done by writing or talking about it—the Farmers must co-operate with the Officials of the Fair Board by bringing in the show-ring and the exhibition hall.

Some pride in your Stock and farm products, also pride in the district of Macleod, and show your neighbors what you have, and what you can do in the way of good stock, good grain, good everything.

Macleod has taken a foremost place as a farming district in years gone by in some of the biggest shows on the Continent. Why not do the same again? and demonstrate to the world that the Macleod district is one of the best in Alberta. The opportunity will be given on August 4th and 5th of again showing what the district can produce.

THE EMPRESS THEATRE --- CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

NEILAN PROVIDES REAL COMEDY AND FINEST NOVELTY

SIX TONS OF LOVE IN HIS NEWEST FILM, "THE GREAT LOVE" AT THE EMPRESS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY—THIS IS NEILAN'S BEST—FATUATED ELEPHANT PROVIDES RARE LAUGHS IN A COMEDY HAVING UNIQUE PLOT

Given an elephant—and an idea—and Marshall Neilan, famous screen director, launched something really new, and hilariously funny, on the screen. Anyone who doubts the director's reputation as "The Mark" of the screen, need only to step into the Empress Theatre and see his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "The Great Love," Friday and Saturday.

It's a real great love—six tons of it! It ranges from hysterically funny mishaps to thrills that make one gasp. It holds one spellbound with its audacious humor. It is Neilan at his best.

The story is a love triangle—and one side of the triangle is an elephant! A young doctor, broke and without prospects, needs only to be, has for his first case a circus elephant who was burned. He also has a sweetheart.

The elephant conceives a great love for her benefactor. Like Mary's lamb, she follows him everywhere—through a church bazaar that collapses, into stores that do the same—she walks along with a garage encasing her like a wooden kimono—and gets jealous of the girl.

The fun is fast and furious throughout—and the thrills add the spice of danger. Viola Dana is very charming as the young doctor's sweetheart and, incidentally, wears some very charming gowns. Robert Agnew plays the young doctor, a comedy role he handles with consummate skill, and Chester Conklin, the comedian, is hilariously funny as the elephant trainer whose pet's heart is ensnared by the doctor.

Frank Currier, ZaSu Pitts, Junior Coughlan, Malcolm Waite and others fill their roles adequately. Waite as a very polished and quite convincing villain.

"Norma" is the one that steals the picture, in a way. She is six tons of talent with a trunk on one end and a tail on the other, and her impersonation of a lovesick elephant (aided and abetted by about a ton of peanuts) gets laughs after laughs. Neilan has given the screen something really new and added a great deal to the sum total of mirth in this prosaic old world in "The Great Love."

NOTED DIRECTOR FILMS STORY OF MARITAL REBELS—HOBART HENLEY MAKES PHOTOPLAY VERSION OF "EXCHANGE OF WIVES"—BASED ON BROADWAY HIT—ELEANOR BOARDMAN, LEW CODY, CREIGHTON HALE AND RENEE ADOREE IN NEW MOVIE

Hobart Henley's fifth production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, "Exchange of Wives," is coming on Monday and Tuesday to the Empress Theatre.

Henley will be remembered for his production of "So This is Marriage," one of last year's greatest successes. "Exchange of Wives" has in its cast two members of the former success, Eleanor Boardman and Lew Cody as Mrs. and Mr. Rathburn. The two have turned their talents from drama to comedy in this picture, however, and according to advance reports are even more successful.

The story concerns the domestic difficulties of the Rathburns and the Morans, neighboring couples. Each couple has been married long variety and interesting events that has been prepared for many years. The purses offered for the horse races are much larger than for many years, with the hope that more and a better class of horses will compete. There will be two or three very special attractions included in the program, details of which will be given next week.

The last, but by no means least, of the attraction for the Fair, will be the Big Midway and Carnival of the "C. F. Zeiger United Shows," this will be without doubt the finest, most up-to-date and largest Midway ever seen on Macleod Fair Grounds. There will be three or four of the latest style of rides, six or eight high class shows, and concessions by the dozen—Variety enough to please the most fastidious and clean and straight in every particular. Practically everything in the Midway is new and fresh this year.

The Queen often has been up at 7 o'clock in the morning watching the removal of the old shrubs and the laying out of the specially devised flower beds in which some wonderful specimens have been planted.

BALDWIN REJECTS CHURCHMEN'S PLEA

The meeting was a private one and lasted two hours. What took place has not been reported officially, but it is understood that the efforts of the churchmen were without results as the premier reiterated his insistence that a further subsidy was impossible. Five of the cabinet ministers also were present.

WOMAN NAMES MURDERER WITH DYING BREATH

Cherhill, Alta., July 20.—Mrs. Carl Anderson, 45 years of age, was brutally shot down yesterday afternoon by a bullet from a heavy calibre rifle, fired at close range, as she was walking from her store to feed stock in the barn one hundred feet away.

Just before she died two hours later Mrs. Anderson made a statement in which she accused Emil Naise, a Belgian, who has farmed in this district for some time, with firing the fatal shot.

Provincial police have bloodhounds on the trail now. The hunt is being assisted by a posse of citizens. Naise has been seen with a rifle by one man, but disappeared into the bush before he could be challenged.

Mrs. Anderson, who operated the Cherhill cash store, had left the store about a quarter to three yesterday afternoon to go out to the barn to feed the stock. The barn is only one hundred feet from the store.

Mrs. Anderson had not gone far when she heard someone speak, according to a statement she made later. Apparently she turned around and saw the rifle aimed directly at her. Evidently alarmed, she turned away again, and at this instant the murdered died.

The bullet apparently had been aimed directly at the woman's heart, but her sudden turn caused it to enter her back, coming out under the right breast.

Neighbors aroused by the shot rushed to the stricken woman and carried her into the store. Dr. Johnson, of Sandudo, was called. Although she was soon on the scene and did everything possible, Mrs. Anderson died of the wound about half past four o'clock.

An inquest is being held today. Cherhill, Alberta, the scene of the murder, is fifty miles northwest of Edmonton.

FORMER PREMIER WILL COME WEST

Ottawa, July 20.—Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King will leave the capital this week-end for a campaign meeting in Western Ontario. The actual points at which meetings will be held will probably be announced later this week. After several days in Ontario, Mr. King will go west to Manitoba, where a series of meetings are being arranged.

The western tour of the Liberal leader will likely take him through to British Columbia, with meetings in Saskatchewan and Alberta during the past eleven years.

Thomas E. Oliver, also of the Alberta Pacific Grain company, has been appointed assistant to Mr. Hall.

It is not generally known that the Alberta wheat pool had already purchased eighteen elevators in Alberta and have contracted for the building of fifteen more which it is expected will be ready for the handling of this year's crop. As a matter of fact three of the latter have just been completed.

AUSTRALIA IS PAYING HIGH FOR NATIONAL DEFENCE—ARMY, AIR FORCE AND NAVAL EXPENDITURES INVOLVED IN GREAT OUTLAY

Melbourne, Australia, July 20.—Prime Minister Bruce said today that Australia at present is spending much more for national defence than ever. In 1924-25 the Australian government embarked on a defence-developing programme extending over five years, and involving a yearly expenditure of £1,000,000 in addition to the regular budget appropriation of £5,500,000 set aside for national defence.

This additional amount is devoted to training extra personnel in connection with the new naval construction programme which will be completed in 1928-29, and in itself represents an expenditure of £7,000,000. Furthermore, special grants have been made, as for instance £250,000 for munitions for the army, £200,000 for air force purposes and £200,000 for a survey of the barrier reef.

In the middle of August. It would appear now as though the British Commonwealth campaign will be brief but ably turn east and hold two or three meetings in Quebec before spending the latter part of his campaign in the maritime provinces. The Quebec meetings will be in Montreal, Quebec City and one other point at least, probably Sherbrooke.

GOVT PETROLEUM ENGINEER COMING OUT FROM BRITAIN

Ottawa, July 20.—The appointment by the department of the interior of T. G. Madgwick, petroleum technologist, to assist in the supervision of the development of oil properties leased from the Dominion government in Alberta, is announced. Mr. Madgwick is an Englishman, with experience in practically every oil field in the world. He was formerly in charge of the petroleum department of Birmingham University.

Commenting on the appointment, Hon. R. B. Bennett, acting minister, remarked that since the retirement of S. J. Davies, petroleum engineer of the Calgary office, some months ago, it has been impossible to find a Canadian engineer qualified for the position who would be willing to take it at the remuneration offered.

Mr. Madgwick, added the minister, is willing to take the position at a personal sacrifice to himself in order to be able to familiarize himself with conditions in Alberta. Mr. Madgwick will sail for Canada at once and will assume his duties in Calgary about mid-August.

IN THE CRUCIBLE OF AFFLICTION

Cables from Tokio tell of landslides and floods in Japan that have inundated farms, killed hundreds and destroyed some 4500 houses in two prefectures alone.

Japan is a land of affliction. Harassed by constant earthquakes threatened by floods, the Japanese people have developed, over generations, an indifference to danger and hardship that may have a profound effect on the future of the Western Hemisphere.

It is the intensely prolific people, arising in lands of hardships, and distress, that have had the most striking effect on the ethnic history of the world.

Tempered to steel by the dangers of a Northern climate, and hardened by barbaric life, it was the Vandals, Goths and Visigoths that changed the whole racial current of the Holy Roman Empire.

It was the homeless and desert-toughened Tartars that engulfed China, captured India, changed the racial quality of Russia and threatened all white civilization.

White civilization has learned its sharpest lessons from races that have arisen like endless vapor from the crucible of affliction.

The Japanese are a prolific people. Hardships are engendering the spirit of conquest in their blood.

Are the floods, earthquakes, fires and landslides of Japan preparing a new chapter in the history of the Pacific Bowl?

THE MARTYRED AIMEE

Aimee Semple McPherson, whose kidnapping story aroused the doubts of millions of her fellow citizens feels sorry for herself. She likens the scepticism of those who are investigating her tale to the indignities heaped upon Joan of Arc.

She prophesies that, like St. Joan, her detractors, in the ages to come, will have to eat their words and admit her to sainthood.

Without intending any reflection upon the spiritual integrity of Aimee Semple McPherson, the significant fact still remains that every time a religious faker gets caught, he or she falls back on the persecution wall.

Jesus of Nazareth may have been crucified; Socrates may have been given a hemlock draught. But that does not mean that everyone who choose to set up a new religious creed and is rejected is necessarily in line for defecation. Great religious teachers have been persecuted. But all who are persecuted are not, by a long shot, great religious teachers.

The public has long since got on to the quack medicine man and the quack magician. The public is beginning to get on to the quack religionists.

Mrs. McPherson may be sincere and honest. Her ministrations may be benign. But her persecution cry and her appeal to the memory of Joan of Arc will arouse more suspicion than belief.

True religion is the art of living, not an emotional holocaust.

Fire Commissioner's Address: Parliament Buildings, Edmonton.

Things work out rather well. The more they spend for soap, the more they save on perfume.

Some of the cars on the street are sufficient evidence of the power of salesmanship.

Even yet there are villages so pure in heart that parents worry about the kids playing marbles for keeps.

production "The Great Love," coming Friday and Saturday to the Empress Theatre. There are human actors, too, headed by Viola Dana and Robert Agnew—but the lachrymose elephant with the alcoholic complex furnishes the bulk of the comedy.

CHESTER CONKLIN IS IN "THE GREAT LOVE"

Chester Conklin, famous comedian, plays an elephant tamer in Marshall Neilan's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "The Great Love," coming Friday and Saturday to the Empress Theatre. In his youth Conklin worked in a circus—and by a strange coincidence the elephant he appears with in the picture was one in an act he "worked" in the sawdust ring years ago!

MODIFICATION IN REGULATION GOVERNING PLANT REGISTRATION

At a meeting of the Plant Registration Committee of the Canadian Horticultural Council, held recently in Ottawa, a slight modification in the regulations governing registration was made. Instead of issuing a certificate will in future be issued until the plant is fully registered. It has been provided, however, that the Council, upon the recommendation of any recognized horticultural organization, will grant an award of merit certificate to any plant recorded at the Plant Registration Bureau.

Full details of the method of recording a new plant and of the operation of the Plant Registration Bureau in respect to registration can be obtained on application to the Secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council at Ottawa.

Dear Sir:—
Would you kindly insert the following warning to all bicycle riders in Macleod and district, on account of the many complaints I have received from residents and others of Macleod of bicycles being ridden on the sidewalks in Macleod and the especial danger there is to pedestrian traffic, especially aged people and children.

In future any person who is seen riding a bicycle in Macleod on the sidewalks will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, without further warning, as they are a menace to the safety of the public, by so doing.

Fifty years ago no one thought a satisfactory fountain pen would ever be an accomplished fact. Scores of pens had been invented, but not one of them would write properly. They only worked at times; the ink flow could not be controlled.

But in 1883 came Waterman's Ideal—the perfect pen—one that would always work properly, one that would not leak, one that would meet the peculiar requirements of every man's hand.

From a beginning of 200 pens in a year—made by hand—Waterman's has developed into a great industry. Today there are millions of Waterman's Ideals in service in all parts of the world.

SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should under all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS--THE PALESTINE MANDATE

An important part of the work of the league is what is known as mandates. When it became evident that Germany and Turkey were to lose their possessions in Asia and Africa, various plans were suggested as to how these should be governed. To General J. C. Smuts, premier of South Africa, belongs the honor of having his plan incorporated in the covenant of the League. The victorious nations agreed to hand over these possessions to the League which were accepted as a sacred trust of civilization. The League became the guardian of backward races not yet capable of governing themselves. The League delegates its authority to a state who acts as agent. A permanent commission sits at Geneva composed of nine members, who receive complaints from countries under mandatory control and see that the administration is conducted for the benefit of the inhabitants. One member of the commission is English, one French, the rest from nations who have no special interest in these countries. The nations who accepted mandates have to furnish a yearly report of their administration to this commission and it is then given to the assembly. Among the territories which were taken from Turkish rule were Palestine, Transjordan, Iraq, Syria.

Mandates for the first three were accepted by Great Britain, and Syria by France. The mandates of Armenia were offered to the United States, but were refused by that nation.

The record of 40 years of British control in Egypt is a beautiful chapter in history of Great Britain. Amidst almost unsurmountable difficulties she carried out her purpose of educating the people for self government and developing the resources of the country with a patience, unselfishness, justice and firmness as to win approval at last from France, who for years tried to block every effort for reform. Now that Britain has withdrawn her control with a few necessary reservations we find the same beneficent power working for the inhabitants of Palestine. When Britain accepted the mandate of Palestine she found a scene of barrenness desolation and oppression. The Turks had cut down all the olive trees for fuel, the orange groves had either been cut down or ceased to bear, cattle and horses were reduced to a vanishing point. The population consisted of 670,000 Arabs, 79,000 Christians, 55,000 Jews, 10,000 Druses. The Arabs wanted the British to rule in their favor, the Christians wanted the same, so did the Jews because of the Balfour doctrine that there was to be a national home for the Jews in Palestine, and for a time there were riots and bloodshed, and to-day peace and order reigns in this land, where there is less crime committed in one year than in one week in New York City.

These are some of the benefits conferred: Complete ownership, reconstruction of land, new judicial system, building of roads, schools, waterworks, electrical plants, hospitals. To quote from the report of 1925 "With the exception of Haifa we have banished malaria from the land." This scourge at certain times of the year claimed high toll of natives and left those who recovered debilitated. Hundreds of miles of swamp have been drained to accomplish this. 45,000 wells were sealed and fitted with pumps. These benefits of British tolerance have brought all sections of the populace to an appreciation of British rule." Sir John Power has a right to say "The work we have carried out in the past few years is one of the greatest achievements in ruling backward people ever accomplished by Great Britain." It is generally thought that Britain has benefited financially by administering mandated territory, on the contrary these territories have cost and are still costing the British taxpayer immense sums of money, not a penny of revenue comes into the Imperial chest. The deficit for 1925 for Palestine was about $350,000 and would have been millions but for the generous subsidies given by Jews throughout the world.

REV. ARTHUR B. HAMES TELLS FISH STORY--WAS MISSIONARY AT MACLEOD IN EARLY DAYS

A fish story, especially if it concerns the tasty speckled trout of the Crow's Nest, should not be out of place in a missionary setting. Certainly it should be timely told that season when the fishermen are bringing home their last and tallest yarns of the season. This one will be anonymous, for the narrator calls himself Abdiel and is writing out of his reminiscences of fifty years in the itinerant ministry.

After strenuous years in the bush country of Ontario, among the inter-lacing lakes and streams of the Riding River region and then on the broad and sometimes bleak prairie, he found himself completing a term as home missionary at Fort Macleod in the future Alberta. The conference gave him an assistant in order that he might have a real holiday, so, taking his family in a wagon, Abdiel trekked for the Rockies.

There, in the Crow's Nest Pass, it is six weeks of canyoning and pastoral visiting, he caught "by careful count" 250 fish.

"The farther we journeyed up the river in the pass, the finer was the flavor and the larger and more numerous were the handsome and most delicious speckled trout," he writes. "The 250 averaged three pounds apiece by weight, with the exception of two salmon trout, one weighing ten and the other fifteen pounds. All were caught by hook and line, and were all baked, boiled or fried and consumed by the hearty, hungry party of nine from the parsonage. One bright morning before breakfast, the writer, having left his pen-knife the previous evening at a point on the river two miles distant from the camp, mounted the pony and shouldered his fishing rod, found the knife and in less than half an hour galloped back into camp with eight lovely trout weighing from three to six pounds apiece. A four mile gallop in thirty minutes did not leave much time for the actual fishing. He had fished the same spot the night before and had caught a few small ones, but in the morning they were in a different mood. Of his experience Abdiel writes: "He had little time, therefore, in pulling the first fish out of the water. It was a big one. He swung it over his head and, when it struck the ground, it rebounded and snapped the line in two. Needless to write, more care was taken in snatching out the others. He was as hungry as a hunter, all the way home to camp."

That was in August, 1891, just thirty-five years ago, and evidently the preacher doubts whether as good fishing could be encountered in the same region this year, for he draws attention to the sparseness of population then in the foothills and up into the Crow's Nest. The people whom he did meet were very hospitable, as helpful to the holiday-makers as were the ranchers back on the prairie and as generous as the old Manitoba and Northwest Conference that made such a substantial vacation possible.

Early in July preparations had been made for "the finest and most beautiful holiday it had been our privilege to enjoy in all our lives," writes Abdiel. The Mounted Police at the Fort Macleod barracks loaned a big tent, with a sheet iron stove for camping. Flour, potatoes and other essentials of the camper's grocery department were packed. The chief fisherman made sure of enough bacon and butter for frying the anticipated catches of trout which "at that time were plentiful in all the cool sparkling streams that flowed through the mountain passes." Thus laden the parson, his wife and six children and a chain of one of the daughters, journeyed by stage coach with the Royal Mail to Pincher Creek and prepared to strike in a wagon for the fishing and bathing grounds ahead.

WINDERMERE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY REPORT

A report by Dr. J. F. Walker on the geology and mineral deposits of the Windermere district, British Columbia, has been published by the Geological Survey. The area is underlain to a great extent by sedimentary formations of Precambrian age. Correlations are made between these formations and similar Precambrian sediments farther south described by Dr. S. J. Schofield and Dr. R. A. Daly. The age relationships of the Paleozoic formations exposed in the eastern part of the area are also matters of careful consideration.

The most important mineral deposits are lead-silver and lead-silver-zinc deposits. They are of the fissure and bed-vein type and are generally associated with minor flexures on the limbs of large folds. The leading properties are described. Copies of the report may be had on application to the Director, Geological Survey, Ottawa, or 510 Winch Building, Vancouver.

FALL LITTERS

Five years of results at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, have demonstrated that fall pigs can be raised quite as profitably as spring pigs. It costs a little more to produce the fall litters but the higher average prices for the fall pigs have more than offset the added costs of production.

The fall litters are a little larger and stronger than the spring litters; there are no hairless fall pigs. From 57 litters farrowed between August 1st and September 30th, an average of 6.7 pigs per litter was recorded as against 5.7 pigs per litter weaned from 140 litters farrowed between March 1st and May 31st. At the Station, litters are farrowed during all months of the year, but for best results fall litters may be farrowed not later than September 15th. This gets the pigs over weaning time, the most critical period of their lives, before winter weather. Expensive hog houses are not necessary as quite the best results are secured at the Station from fall pigs fed in the open with only small portable cabins, banked with straw for shelter. Pigs are never kept in the large hog house after two weeks of age as they do much better in the cabins.

In the feeding experiments in 1923, a year of average prices, it required an average of 322.3 lb. of grain to produce 100 lb. of pork from 54 spring pigs, compared with 420 lb. of grain to produce 100 lb. pork from 75 fall pigs. Also, it required 224 days for the fall pigs to reach an average weight of 172.7 lb., while the spring pigs in 212 days reached an average of 189.7 lb. But while the spring pigs sold at an average of $7.50 per cwt., the fall pigs sold at $9.05 per cwt. Thus the 54 spring pigs showed a profit of only $4.11 per head as against a profit of $4.90 per head for the fall pigs.

Pastures greatly reduce the cost of production and also increase the number of selects. At the Station, sows carrying fall litters are carried on pastures of oats and rye, rape or alfalfa and receive only sufficient grain to keep them in good breeding condition. A mixture of whole oats or oat chaff and wheat bran is fed on the ground. A week before farrowing the sows are placed in farrowing pens, but two weeks after farrowing the sows and litters are put out in pasture lots with thoroughly disinfected cabins for shelter. Litters are weaned at 8 weeks of age.

OTTAWA SITS BACK AS BIG FIGHT OPENS

Ottawa, July 21.—With Parliament dissolved, the election writs issued, the voting date proclaimed, the opening shot fired, and the prime minister and all but a mere quorum of the cabinet off to the country, Ottawa sat back today to the routine of the election campaign.

Mr. Meighen left early this morning to spend the day in Montreal, and tonight will go to the maritime provinces to cover the engagements of a ten-day itinerary. He will be joined down there by prominent members of his party. Activities here in the next two months will be purely political. It is the policy of the government to do no more than carry on the public service.

No New Appointments. No appointments are planned and no new undertakings are in prospect. No money to speak of has been voted. One batch of Governor-General's warrants has been put through for salaries and the like; and it is announced that works under contract will go ahead and any emergencies looked after.

Beyond that, no outlays are planned and there will be little besides the ordinary run of departmental administration.

Sir Henry Drayton, who is acting premier, left for Toronto this afternoon to be away till Monday. After a brief meeting today of the cabinet ministers who are here, most of them planned to leave town at once to get busy in their constituencies and take direction of district organizations. The vacation period and an oppressive heat operate somewhat against any instant response, but with eight full weeks, plenty of time is afforded for working up enthusiasm.

Liberals will have a counter blast here Friday night when Mr. Macdonald King and Hon. Ernest Lapointe will open the campaign.

BANFF GAME WARDEN TELLS STORY OF BIG BLAZE

Banff, Alta., July 16.—Chief Game Guardian Warren was brought to Banff, at 4 a.m., today, from the fire region, suffering with a badly twisted ankle. When interviewed Mr. Warren gave out a statement regarding the forest fire. Mr. Warren has been in charge of the Banff detachment and when leaving last night left Game Guardian Walter Peyto, his right-hand man there, in charge. The fire was in much better shape than when I left this morning," stated Mr. Warren. He declared that it was not out of control on the north side. "We have found many excellent rock and old snow slides from which to fight its progress," he said. But the green vegetation makes it very difficult to back-fire from them. Only the weight of the advancing fire and the intense heat preceding it which dries and scorches everything in its path before the fire reaches it enables it to burn.

Embers Are Flying

"The story of the fire jumping the slide where it was being combated arose from the fact that flying embers ignited a few fires behind the slide. They were, however, quickly extinguished. At this point there are now the big Bickle forest fire pump and four other units. The valley being narrow we are confident we can hold the fire in check there.

"On the south side, where the fire is now being held effectively in check, fortunately a large clearing had been made for an airplane landing. From this landing a fire-guard runs at an angle of about 45 degrees to a series of sloughs at the base of the mountain. From this point there is no danger as a plentiful supply of water is at hand from the big Rolls-Royce engine, relayed up the mountain by smaller units. Along the motor road, under the supervision now being maintained, there is no danger.

Estimate Impossible

"It is impossible to estimate the actual area burned or burning. The fire has so many tongues and branches and the smoke is so dense that at present one cannot tell. At times it was impossible for the fighters to get within half a mile of the fire. The burning timber is all green and the smoke so dense that a very little would suffocate a man."

Mr. Warren shops signs of the severe strain he has passed through in the past few days. A few days rest, however, he thinks, will put him right and fit to resume charge if then needed.

Report of Sparks Denied

The report of a tourist that live sparks had been seen to fall at Lake Louise, is denied by the fire warden at that point. He reports that no sparks had fallen in that vicinity.

Vancouver, B.C., July 19.—Cool weather and high humidity continues along the British Columbia coast today and forest officials report that fire conditions have greatly improved.

At Sooke and Fanny Bay, on Vancouver Island, fires which threatened to cause much damage, have been held in check by large fire fighting crews.

PHONE SYSTEM ASKS BOOST IN RATE SCALE

Calgary, July 17.—Application was made Friday, July 16, by the Alberta telephone department to the public utility board for an increase of 20 per cent in the rates.

The telephone department has been given a free hand by the government to put the telephone service of this province on a business basis.

The primary necessity at the present time in connection with the proposed increase is to provide sufficient funds to keep in good condition a plant in which the province has invested $23,000,000.

Asked what increase was being sought, Mr. Barker, general manager, replied both urban and rural rates were included in the application, and that the increase sought in the urban rates would average about 20 per cent, and that in the rural would average about the same. 50 Cents More For Residence Phones

For residence telephones, both in cities and towns and in the country, the increase, if put into effect would represent 50 cents a month. On business telephones, the increase would range from 75 cents to $1.00. The percentage of increase in the same throughout. Residence phone users pay $2.50 a month now and the increase would bring the charge to $3.00. The business phones cost $5.00 in Calgary, and the increase would bring the charge to $6.00. Elsewhere the business phone charge is lighter, but the 20 per cent. increase will obtain, if the utility board considers the application reasonable.

Liquor was worse than golf in some ways, but it waited until after work hours to take up a man's time.

DRY GOODS

We had a representative last week showing Dresses and Fall Coats. It was a little early. So he did not do a crushing business. But will return later on. The weather was so hot. It was foolish to think of cold things or the reminder of winter to come. We have a nice sample of silk hosiery from 60c upwards. Also a silk stocking, pure silk from top to bottom. Now you long leg girls this is what you want—"With graceful feet—a maiden sweet was tripping the light fantastic, when she suddenly tore for the dressing room door"—You can never trust elastic.

Our elastic is the best in the market, it is made of pure silk and comes out from the wash as strong as ever. This is a great consideration especially in bloomers for ladies and children's wear.

We still believe in show cards or tickets displayed with figures showing cut prices. Now in coming into our store, there are tickets every where. A little loose silver will be greatly appreciated by those silent salesmen. We have a nice range of kid slippers suitable for dance or the house on sale.

You must look at our tempting display of house dresses. They are enticing to look at, and when they are filled inside the effect is very tempting.
